Chapter 327: The Skyward Symphony of Divine Birds

The Creation of Divine Birds

Sung Jin-Woo, gazing across the vast, open skies of the Absolute Realm, felt a yearning for life to grace its boundless horizons. Inspired by his love for birds, he channeled his divine power to create an array of divine avians. These majestic creatures, imbued with the essence of his divinity, were designed to fill the skies of his realms with beauty, song, and purpose.

Each bird was unique, possessing traits that symbolized aspects of Sung Jin-Woo's domain: creation, abundance, life, and shadows.

List of Divine Birds

1. Eclipsian Hawks

Appearance: Midnight-black feathers with streaks of silver resembling a starry sky.

Abilities: Masters of shadow manipulation, they can vanish into darkness and reappear anywhere in the Absolute Realm.

Purpose: Guardians of the skies, they survey the realms and alert Sung Jin-Woo's forces to any disturbances.

2. Aurora Swans

Appearance: Snow-white bodies that radiate a soft, colorful glow resembling the aurora borealis.

Abilities: Their songs can heal wounded creatures and soothe troubled minds.

Purpose: Keepers of peace, they bring tranquility to the Absolute Realm's inhabitants.

3. Obsidian Ravens

Appearance: Gleaming black feathers with a crimson sheen under the light.

Abilities: Highly intelligent and capable of delivering messages across realms.

Purpose: Messengers of the Divine Triad, carrying Sung Jin-Woo's will to the farthest reaches of existence.

4. Starlight Eagles

Appearance: Golden feathers that shimmer like sunlight, with eyes that glow like twin stars.

Abilities: Their screeches summon radiant beams of light capable of dispelling darkness.

Purpose: Protectors of celestial harmony, they aid in purging corruption from the realms.

5. Shadow-Winged Owls

Appearance: Large owls with dark-gray plumage, speckled with glowing violet runes.

Abilities: Masters of stealth and silent flight, they see through illusions and detect hidden enemies.

Purpose: Scouts and spies for the Shadow God, ensuring the safety of the Absolute Realm.

6. Phoenixes of Renewal

Appearance: Fiery crimson and gold birds with long, elegant tails that burn with eternal flames.

Abilities: Their flames can revive fallen creatures and cleanse impurities.

Purpose: Symbols of rebirth and resilience, they serve as reminders of the cycle of life.

7. Twilight Falcons

Appearance: Dual-toned feathers—one side silver, the other black—symbolizing balance.

Abilities: Masters of speed, they can traverse dimensions in an instant.

Purpose: Swift navigators and guides, aiding travelers within the Absolute Realm.

8. Moonlit Doves

Appearance: Pale-blue feathers that glow under moonlight, with soft, calming eyes.

Abilities: Their presence fosters unity and cooperation among beings.

Purpose: Emissaries of peace, spreading harmony across the realms.

9. Void Albatrosses

Appearance: Enormous birds with shadowy wings that appear to absorb light.

Abilities: Capable of flying through the void between dimensions.

Purpose: Navigators of interdimensional travel, ensuring safe passage for the Divine Armada.

10. Silver Songbirds

Appearance: Tiny birds with metallic silver feathers and melodious voices.

Abilities: Their songs inspire creativity and hope.

Purpose: Companions to the inhabitants of the Absolute Realm, uplifting their spirits.

The Skyward Symphony

As the divine birds spread their wings and soared through the skies of the Absolute Realm, they transformed the once-empty expanse into a lively and harmonious sanctuary. Their vibrant colors, enchanting songs, and majestic presence became a source of joy for all who dwelled there.

From his throne in Umbra Citadel, Sung Jin-Woo watched the birds in flight, a faint smile on his lips. Their freedom and beauty mirrored the ideals he cherished for his realms.

He mused, “Even the skies deserve life, for they too are part of creation.”

The Absolute Realm now resonated with the symphony of life, a testament to Sung Jin-Woo’s boundless creativity and love for his creations.
